

Illness Puts Graduate in Hospital Here

Robert T. Young, son of Mrs. Cecilia Young, of 2355 Eldorado avenue and the late Leonard J. Young, city engineer, was graduated from Redondo Union High School with the class of June '48.

Young, a Torrance Herald former employe, plans to enroll at George Pepperdine College for a pre-medical course in the fall.

Due to an illness for which he is being treated at Torrance Memorial Hospital, he was unable to attend his commencement exercises, held at Sea Hawk Bowl.

Deadline Set on Dust Bowl

(Continued from Page 1-A) has been 25 years of trouble for the people of Torrance. Deputy Whichello, after conferring with Air Pollution officials, set July 7 for the CCMO to report back after a meeting with experts of the Soil Conservation Commission, who told air pollution engineers they could tell the CCMO people how to eliminate the dust in 24 hours.

Representing the citizens group was Mrs. R. C. Brown and Mrs. Evelyn D. Cheadle, 816 Crenshaw boulevard. They were advised that the District Attorney's office would back Torrance city officials to the hilt in eliminating the menace.

High Honors Awarded to Record Class

Graduates of Torrance High School's class of '48 were enjoying well-earned vacations this week, following a strenuous Commencement Week climaxed by the graduation program last Thursday night at the high school auditorium.

During the impressive program, coveted honors were conferred on nearly a score of the graduates in the form of scholarships and memberships in honor societies. The class was the largest in the history of the local high school.

Awards went to the following:

Keith Pearson, the Bausch-Lomb Award; William Wrath Carstens, Class Valedictorian; Barbara Jo Ann Lisman, Class Salutatorian. Nancy Ann Whyte and John Floyd Hood were presented with the Lions Club annual scholarship awards announced last week.

Other honors went to: Barbara Lisman, the D.A.R. Citizenship Award; John Hood and Connie Navarro, who received the All-School Citizen Awards. Runners-up were Yovan Popovich and Beverly Jean Hopkins.

Eight students, including some of those receiving top honors, also were recipients of Gold Seal Life Membership Awards. These were: William Carstens, Johnetta Dorris, Beverly Jean Hopkins, Barbara Lisman, Connie Navarro, Leslie Peterson, Rose Marie Rossi and Nancy Ann Whyte.

Six students participated in the Commencement symposium on the theme "Melodies of Life": William Carstens, Phil Gill, Keith Pearson, Juanita Andrews, Sonna Larson and Yovan Popovich.

A highlight of the musical portion of the program was the interpretation of Liszt's "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 6" by Nancy Whyte, pianist, who also was heard as accompanist at various times on the program. Patricia Mullin was the other accompanist.

The high school orchestra, directed by Abe Milstein, and the All-Senior Chorus, directed by George Zavislan were other musical highlights and Patricia Cecil sang "My Task" by Ashford, Joan Mumford was incidental soloist with the Senior Choir.

The Class Gift, a handsome glass case for the perpetual display of the school's annuals, was presented to the school by William Carstens, class president and accepted on behalf of the school by Principal Lloyd Waller. Jerry McIvaine directed the senior

Schools Want El Camino to Be Host at Conference

Houses, apartments and rooms are urgently needed by new personnel of Torrance Unified School District who are moving to the city beginning this week, according to J. Henrich Hull, superintendent.

Residents wishing to list property with the district may call the administrative offices, Torrance 1653.

Principal Waller paid tribute during the program to Arthur M. Main, class advisor, and to Edna F. Alterton, registrar, who coordinated the large amount of work necessary to determine the standings of the honor students.

She also directed the correspondence and arranged details necessary to enable the former service men to receive military diplomas.

Among those with special interest in the graduating class were several teachers from the Los Angeles city school system who had taught classes in Torrance High School before the local district withdrew from the Los Angeles district.

They included Ethel Burnham, Sara Vaubel, Miss Irene Mills and J. H. Burchett. Herbert Irwin, former social science instructor at the local high school but who now teaches in Redondo, also attended the commencement to offer his congratulations to the graduates.

El Camino to Be Host at Conference

El Camino College will be host today to one of the governor's state-wide Conferences on Youth Welfare. About 200 delegates are expected to attend.

Presiding at the conference will be Forrest G. Murdock, president of El Camino. This is one of a series of Youth Conferences being held under the auspices of the California Department of Justice, California Department of Education, California Association of District Attorneys, California Federation of Women's Clubs and some 29 other similar organizations.

Persons identified with youth activities, such as Boy Scouts, service clubs and church groups are particularly invited to attend.

Violinist to Give Concert Here July 7

The First Methodist and the First Christian churches of Torrance will present Hans Jose, one of Europe's finest violin virtuosos, in concert on July 7 at the Methodist church, El Prado street at Manuel avenue. Jose came to the United States through the help of the World Church Service, and was sent to California to regain his health and to prepare for an extended concert tour. Recordings have been made of many of his concert numbers.

Tibbetts Tells of Management Club Success

Organization of a Management Club, representing executives in major Torrance industries, was advanced at a meeting Monday evening at the Torrance Woman's Club when Carleton Tibbetts, former president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, addressed a group of 121 local industrialists.

Named on a nominating committee to present a slate of officers at the July meeting were: Stanley W. Briggs, personnel director of American Standard; chairman; Don Hyde, public relations manager Columbia Steel; R. L. McGuire, personnel director of Ideco; T. R. Simonson, foreman at Ideco; Howard Willey, manager of Rubber Craft Corp.; Beverly Smith, National Supply Company and M. T. Davis, Dicalite Company.

Tibbetts told the group that a key to success in dealing with other persons was to study and improve on the methods now practiced. He pointed out that a foreman dealing with a large number of men deals with many personalities and must be skillful in the way he expresses himself to get the job done.

A management club, he said, could offer opportunity for management from several plants to discuss among themselves the industrial problems facing them.

Karl Hansen, public relations manager for National Supply was chairman of the sponsoring committee and R. L. Plomert Jr., manager of the property tax department of General Petroleum, was master of ceremonies at the meeting.
